ALLENSTOWN, Pa., June 20.—A blizzard of dynamite today was shaken by the greatest blast that ever was set off in the slate region when 30,000 sticks of dynamite buried 100 feet in two or eight holes loosened at least 50 tons of rock. The blast was a tremendous instantaneous fuse with a speed of 18,000 feet a second. It is said to have been the first time it has been used in the United States, it has heretofore been employed in marine work at Panama.

NINETY-FOUR IN GRADUATING CLASS

Diplomas Given to Nearly 100 Students of High School

PROGRAM PLEASING IN ALL PARTICULARS

In Three Years Enrollment Has Increased Seventy-five Per Cent

Ninety-four students last night received diplomas of graduation from the Santa Ana High School, and nine from the two-year commercial course. It is the biggest class ever graduated from the high school, which held its first graduation exercises in 1893. Commencement week has been a splendid success, each event being one that will be remembered with pleasure by those going forth from school. Last night's exercises were held at the First Methodist Church, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion. Platforms in Santa Ana are getting too small for graduating classes, or rather the graduating classes are getting too large for the platforms. It took some crowding to get every member of the class, the five members of the school board, City Superintendent Cranston, Principal McMath and Rev. Kennedy, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, upon the rostrum. "It is shown more and more every day that Santa Ana High School needs an auditorium," was Superintendent Cranston's opening remarks after the class to the march played by Miss Emily West took their chairs. The girls were all dressed in white, and an unusually pretty lot of girls were they. Above the rostrum was an American flag and the letters "S. A." done in Shasta daisies.

Shasta Daisies The Shasta daisy is the class flower of the graduating class of 1914, and "To a Shasta Daisy" was the title of the class poem, written and last night read by Miss Louise Grubb in an effective and pleasing manner. In her arms she carried a beautiful bouquet of Shasta daisies.

Herbert Damron delighted the audience with a piano solo, Rubinstein's "Kamennoi Ostrow," and he was followed by a delightfully given reading by Miss Ruth Visel. Miss Visel read Tolstoy's "The Great Guest Comes," and she read in a manner more than pleasing to the audience.

Miss Dorothy Dean's vocal solo, "Come Dance and Sing" (Peyck), was a feature of the program, and appreciation was shown in calling for an encore.

Raymond Adkinson, one of the high school's ablest orators, delivered a splendid oration upon "The Victories of Peace."

Misses Dorothy Dena, Corinne Burns, Lillian Walker, Helen Roberts, Ruth Harding and Eva Tidball were brought back for more music after they had delighted their hearers with the songs, "A Bowl of Roses" and "One Spring Morning."

E. H. McMath, principal of the high school, presented the class for diplomas, saying:

Record Class "This is the first class to graduate from what should be one of Santa Ana's greatest prizes, her polytechnic high school. The class is a record-breaker in many ways. It is the largest class ever graduated from the high school. In it are ninety-four young people, and slightly over forty per cent of the number are young men. That is a record in itself.

"As students in athletics and in the control of student enterprises, the class was unusual. A census of the class shows that sixty-one are going next fall to higher institutions of learning."

W. L. Duggan, president of the school board, in his address said that the enrollment of the high school had increased seventy-five per cent during the term of the present school board. The total is now nearly 800. The city school total is 3188. He said that the school figures show that Santa Ana is growing as fast as all the rest of Orange county.

As Principal McMath called the names of the graduates, the diplomas were given out by Mr. Duggan.

Superintendent McMath said that recently he was talking to an easterner who said that Santa Ana's high school was better than the easterner's city of 100,000 has and the easterner was much surprised that the plant cost but $260,000. He thought it would have been $400,000 at least.

The list of graduates follows.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself." —Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Satsuma plums, the first of the season, reached the market yesterday and were offered at $1.65 to $1.75 a lug. They were grown locally. This plum is one of the finest and most sought-after in the state. It is exceedingly well adapted for canning or preserving and as such is a great favorite with housewives. Plums now on the market vary in price from $1 to $1.65 a lug. The cheaper varieties are the Clyman and the Egg, while Green Gage command a high price. A good medium priced plum now is the Tragedy, which sells at about $1.35 a lug.

There is every prospect for a large fig crop this season, and the fruit is steadily coming on the market in greater quantities. The price has been lowered recently. The first crabapples have been received and are quoted at 85 cents a box.

With the exception of a small decline in onions the vegetable market was featureless. Tomatoes and new potatoes show a weak tone.

The butter and egg market was again featureless. The price on eggs in San Francisco is fractionally higher and this may affect the market here. The seasonal tendency is upward and therefore an advance is to be expected at almost any time.

$200 an Acre!

comes nearer the real value than $150.00 for the land I am advertising for sale at $125.00. When you consider the quality of the land, location, water, and the general neighborhood. This land is in crop and you don't have to guess as to what it will produce. It should just suit a "sure thing" general farmer—alfalfa, grain, beans, sugar beets, hogs and cows—40 acres, 60 acres or 100 acres fine level land and is now producing big crops of alfalfa, barley and sugar beets. Plenty of water, 1 1/4 miles from good town in Tulare county. You can contract 15 per cent beets at $5.00 with 30c rise for five years.

This is the best time to buy land. We have had several years of political agitation, the country has been ruined and saved or saved and ruined, according to the viewpoint of the politician.

The tariff was lowered to reduce the high cost of living and ruin the farmer, meanwhile the price of land has continued to advance and farm products are bringing high prices even in the face of record breaking production and the high cost of living refuses to come down. Confusing, isn't it? Can you beat it? You can if you buy a piece of land now and become a producer of staple food products. Follow that "hunch" that tells you to buy now, before this state begins to feel the stimulating effect of the Exposition, country-wide good crops and easier money. If you are interested in this land or want information about delicious fruits and nuts grown without irrigation in the Templeton or Paso Robles country, just call me up evening or morning, 644, or drop me a letter with your address.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR

LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens
So Naturally That Nobody
Can Tell

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Advertisement.

FRATERNAL AID FRIENDSHIPS GAVE PLEASING PROGRAM

(By Staff Correspondent.)
ORANGE, June 19.—The "Friendship" division of the Fraternal Aid Association membership contest, staged a program at the I. O. O. F. Hall in an endeavor to excel their fraternal rivals in the race for points in the contest. Several previous entertainments have been given by the other sides and all were greatly enjoyed, but none more than that of last evening. A splendid attendance was out to the entertainment and all had a fine time at the expense of the amateur performers. Some of the work, however, was far from amateurish and the various numbers earned liberal applause throughout. The success of the affair was so generally distributed among the different numbers that it would be hard to pick out the stars. Special mention, however, may be given to a sketch by Mrs. Bishop and Mr. Conway, Mrs. Lankford and Mrs. Shoemaker, while several of the others were close to this in merit. The hall decorations were pink hydrangeas, that being the color of the Friendship side. Refreshments consisted of bananae, covered with ground walnut and pink salad dressing; delicious punch and various other good things to eat. The affair was one of that sort for which the Fraternal aiders are famous. Following is the program:

Vocal Solo—C. L. Conway.
Recitation—Miss Bessie B. Lea.
Piano Solo—Mrs. L. B. Gitchell.
Address—Dr. D. F. Royer.
Vocal Duet—Mrs. D. F. Campbell and Mrs. L. B. Gitchell.
Recitation—Mrs. Della F. Bishop.
Mandolin Solo—Crockett Bishop.
Address—S. M. Cradick.

Recitation—Mrs. J. E. Parker.
Sketch—Mrs. A. D. Bishop, Mrs. G. A. Shoemaker, Mrs. A. F. Lankford, C. L. Conway.
Vocal Duet—Mrs. L. E. Jones, Mrs. Gitchell.
Recitation—Mrs. M. A. Schlasman.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. D. F. Campbell.
Recitation—Mrs. S. G. Unland.
Piano Solo—Mrs. Della F. Bishop.

The wedding of Miss Ella Heinemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Heinemann of Olive, to Mr. August Matthews, was a brilliant event yesterday. The wedding took place at 2:30 p. m. in the German Lutheran church of Olive. Rev. George Mieser officiating. A large assemblage of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony. In the evening a brilliant reception was given at the Heinemann home, which was gallily decorated for the event. This also was largely attended and the guests were entertained until a late hour, refreshments being served throughout the evening.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society held a pleasant and profitable social at the church yesterday afternoon. Some time ago each member had been given a slip that would hold "a foot" of pennies or to be exact sixteen cents. These were turned in yesterday and with the sale of ice cream and wafers at the social yesterday the society realized a sum of about $30, to be devoted to the building fund. The social was well attended and all present were successful in having a good time.

A special meeting or "children's night" as it was designated, attracted about seventy to the Eastern Star hall last evening. One of the best times of the year was in store for those who attended and enjoyed themselves with the young folks. The Masonic Hall was arranged to represent the Long Beach pike, with various attractions occupying booths on both sides. Each guest was provided with a bag of beans on starting out and was then compelled to dole out a few beans before being admitted to the attractions as they passed down the line. The exhibitions were widely assorted and wonderful to behold. Came racks where one cast an embroidery hoop over a candy stick, a box with a hole in it at which everyone tried their marksmanship with a baseball, were among the attractions. To one booth the sightseers were attracted by flaring announcements of a boa constrictor. Inside their expectations were realized by long writhing serpents which grew miraculously from a small square object. There was also a fish pond and an auction sale where one might obtain anything from an old hair roll to an abundance of refreshments were in abundance and none went hungry or thirsty. The amusement of the children but the fun of the affair was shared by the old folks as well.

Irvin Decker is on the sick list today. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ingalls gave an informal reception last evening at their home on South C street. It was a neighborhood affair and was enjoyed thoroughly by all present. Music was one of the features of entertainment during the evening and a general good time was reported. Refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake, pineapple ice and punch.

A surprise birthday party in honor of Eugene Livingston was given Tuesday evening at his home on West La Veta avenue. After making it a very complete surprise the guests turned in to have a rousing good time, and succeeded very thoroughly. The affair was planned by Mr. Livingston's wife and daughter, Mrs. Carl H. Youngs. The guests were recruited from the Livingston's neighbors, many of whom are their old friends and neighbors in Iowa, where they formerly resided. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Grafton and family, Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Mathews, Mrs. Walter Leo Armstrong and son, Mrs. Walter Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Youngs, Miss Mary Bryant of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Livingston.

Local baseball fans are not content to let the situation rest with the Orange high school team winning the Southern California championship. A game is now being considered between the present champions and a team picked of graduates who were former baseball stars. The game will probably be played some time next week. The teams would be fairly

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, June 20.—They have changed some of the girls, to be sure, and the costumes are a bit scantier and the songs have new words, but those changes are not enough to make the summer show of 1914 distinctive. The summer show is upon us once more and it comes up to our expectations as well as down to our apprehensions. Girls, whirled, pattered, chattered, stars, "ribbons and laces to set off their faces"—that's the summer show of the common or Broadway variety and it goes for all of them.

Ziegfeld's Follies of 1914 was among the first to open the silly season. It is at the New Amsterdam, and really is very good of its kind. Florence Ziegfeld, Jr., he who was divorced by Anna Held and then gave the Rialto a jolt in the solar plexus by marrying Billie Burke, puts on a "Follies" every hot spell and his shows always usher in the summer season. This year he has what is known to the trade as a "sure fire success." It is successful because it is good to look at in spots—and contains more than one joke that can be laughed at in a pinch. The Follies are frothy to a degree and are utterly innocent of plot. The New York summer theatre-goers, who Mr. and Mrs. Tired-Businessman have come to look upon Ziegfeld's undraped brand of dog-day entertainment as an institution. They have been seeing them on Broadway for seven years.

But the first-nighters of this year, of whom "Diamond Jim" Brady was among the foremost, were forced to admit that the Follies are not up to the Ziegfeld standard. For this there are two contributing causes. Ziegfeld, as a bridegroom has been busy with a lot of other things and George V. Hobart, the so-called "book" and the major portion of the lyrics, has been at work for several weeks writing most of the recent Lambs' All-star Gamboi stuff. Raymond Hubbard, who wrote the music makes of his private life a closed book, so it is impossible to say what caused him to write such music for the latest Follies.

However, as has been said, the latest Ziegfeld offering is a summer show and as such it ought to fill the New Amsterdam all season. There are scores of girls and most of them are pretty. Those who are not, are shapely and they wear next to nothing. The songs are catchy—some of them—and the music is whistleable.

some of it. And last but not least in this tango-mad and maxixe-maniacal town, the Follies offer some distinctly new dance steps. That alone constitutes a "sure fire hit."

Arthur Hammerstein opened the Roof Garden on the Victoria Theatre on the same night Ziegfeld's Follies made their premiere. The Hammerstein Roof is cool and comfortable and in times past has proved a popular resort. For the first week the usual vaudeville bill was the attraction but the press agent promised some real summer show novelties later on.

Another of the same kind made its debut a few nights later when the Passing Show of 1914 replaced the Whirl of the World at the Winter Garden. The Passing Show and the Follies are always rivals. They are built on the same plan in that their alleged aim is to portray the follies of the day. But if the man and girl on the street had the freakish follies that we see on the summer stage, they would be in Mattewin in less time than it takes to tell it. The Passing Show has a chorus of the peachiest sort of girls and the tall and stately show girls in front of the chorus and just behind the "ponies" are the haughtiest beauties to be found hereabouts. Outside of that, it's the same story, with slight variations, as the other hot weather shows of this and many other summers.

A certain newspaper dramatic critic who is a war correspondent when he is working at his regular trade, came up from Mexico the other day, after reviewing the vaudeville and burlesque at Vera Cruz and again began to dope out the daily best bets in the theatrical handicap. In one of his yarns he happened to mention Augustus Thomas, the Missourian-playwright.

"Huh, shake a leg and get hep," jibed the office boy. "Augustus Thomas died over'n a mont ago somewhere over'n Hurrup, like Morgan." Frenziedly the critic grabbed the telephone and called up the Lambs Club. "I want to fine out about Gus Thomas' death," he shouted. "I just heard about it."

"This is Thomas," came back the drawing response. "I assure you I am not dead. It was an actor, with a similar name, who died."

VIOLENCE A TWO-EDGED SWORD

The Nihilists of Russia may be justified in leaving bombs around where they will set a medieval court and czar to thinking. Also, in the twilight dawn of western civilization, the Vigilantes might be excused for hasty stringing up of cut-throats that interested the fringes of pioneer life.

So a good many people apologize for the fiendish campaign of assault, slaughter of works of art, and arson, conducted by English suffragettes.

Whenever any atrocious crime is committed plenty of men in any town in the United States, right here in Santa Ana, commend the noose and a tall telegraph pole as the most efficient method of putting the fear of God in the hearts of the unruly.

But a price has to be paid for short cuts to justice. The lynchers often find afterward that the wrong man was done for. Reparation may be made by eloquent funeral addresses, or fulsome epitaphs, but that is little consolation to a family left without a breadwinner. Also punishing an innocent man produces results more far reaching than the escape of the guilty. Virtue and order appear without reward, and the moral order is set topsy-turvy.

The result of the Suffragette campaign may be to defer the granting of the franchise to women. Or if the English people are hazy into conceding it, every lawless mind is incited to agitate with the torch and the gun. If the women can burn buildings to get what they conceive is their right, the I. W. W. can burn factories to get higher wages.

Violence is a two-edged sword, which, save in the most extreme cases, cuts the hand that draws it. Our orderly civilization gives eventual redress for wrongs through public discussion. In the end it is the cheapest way.

NO FIXED CLASSES

Andrew Carnegie has denied with great indignation an insinuation in London that he is a member of the "smart set" of New York and Newport.

Carnegie has been accused of almost everything in his time, but he never before protested with such heated vigor. And, as usual, when he talks warmly, he had something to say of substantial good sense.

"In America more than anywhere else," he said, "it is three generations from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves." There is no single hereditary fortune in America that is not being split up. Aristocracy cannot exist without primogeniture and entail, and our laws know neither."

This earnest statement has all the more force because of the fact that Carnegie himself is one of the finest examples the world has of the man who begins life in his shirtsleeves and ends with more money than he knows what to do with.

Few of our rich and really forceful men began otherwise. The whole list of America's multimillionaires contains scarcely the name of a single man who did not start life comparatively poor. They began work in their shirtsleeves; and it was the work, the strength of aspiration and the quickness of intellect that work naturally promotes which made them masters.

And there is even a longer list of men who began life rich and are ending it poor.

It is an unwritten and almost infallible law that the boy pampered in wealth has a poor chance in the contest with the poor boy whose mind and muscles have been trained to toil.

We talk about "classes" in this country without knowing the word's meaning. We have social grades, educational levels, and ranks of riches; but fixed classes in society, learning or wealth are absolutely impossible.

The way up is open to all, and new men are constantly climbing upward, while others weakened by wealth, sink back to common service.

You can hear Republicans singing the praises of Hiram Johnson in their homes and on the streets. They admire the administration and will see that it is perpetuated. They will not consent to go back to the old conditions that prevailed prior to the advent of the Progressive party.—Marysville Appeal.

Prohibition has become so vital and well-defined an issue that trimming on the question has become extremely difficult.—St. Louis Star.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Few persons realize that American history is linked as much with old trees as with historic buildings and spots. Few visitors to the National Capitol ever look at the famous trees—and there are thousands of visitors here every week who believe after their tour that they have seen everything of importance.

Not one in a thousand Washington visitors—or residents—know that the beautiful "Summer Elm" in front of the capitol was planted by Abraham Lincoln. Few know that nearly every other president of the United States has planted trees in Washington which still stand. Nearly every famous American statesman can be linked with one or more of the sturdy old trees here. A big cypress near the capitol was brought here by Mrs. Jefferson Davis and just across the street from it is a tree Charles Sumner planted.

The "tree man" of Washington is Bristow Adams, forest examiner of the Bureau of Forestry, United States Department of Agriculture. Speaking of trees closely associated with American history Adams said: "There is the famous elm under which William Penn made his treaty with the Indians. That tree was so esteemed that the English soldiers placed a special guard around it during the Revolution, and after it was blown down in a gale in 1810 its trunk was sent to the old Penn family seat, near Windsor, England. There it still is preserved."

On Georgia avenue in Washington, according to Adams, the grounds of the Walter Reed Hospital is the trunk of an American poplar which was occupied by both Confederate and Federal lookouts and sharpshooters during the Civil war when the southern forces made their nearest approach to Washington. The tree was the lookout point from Fort Stevens.

Scattered throughout the United States, especially in New England are many other famous trees. If one elm on Boston Common could tell its history, tragic tales of suffering would be unfolded, for on it were hanged two witches and Mary Dyer, the Quakeress.

At Hartford, Conn., is the famous Charter Oak where the charter of Connecticut was hidden when King James sent Governor Andros across the ocean to usurp the powers in the original land grant.

Adams said he believed the old Appomattox Oak is still standing. Under it Generals Grant and Lee met on the occasion which marked the close of Civil War hostilities.

At one battle of the Revolution the American forces were saved from a terrible defeat by the tough spongy wood of the palmetto tree. That was at Charleston, S. C., during the battle of Fort Moultrie. Then the British volleys fell harmless against the trees which sheltered the Continental army. The first Protestant church services in the United States were held under trees at Jamestown, Va. The most recent of historic trees in Washington are the Japanese cherries, the gift of the late Emperor of China. They were set out along the Potomac Drive.

It seems known to few Washington visitors that the huge bronze statue of Liberty which tops the capitol dome faces away from the White House and Washington monument. Few seem to know that the original plans of the city were for the building where the nation's laws are made, to face east and not west.

When the capitol plans were drawn the government expected the city to spread to the east and the building was faced in that direction. Trade, however, drifted west and before many years it was necessary to make the western approach as dignified and beautiful as the real front. And now when strangers come few notice that they look at the original rear of the capitol when they glance down Pennsylvania avenue from the Treasury building.

Just the common ordinary mumblety peg is the latest diversion for high government officials. Some days ago, wearied by the long toils debate in the senate Senators Overman and Chilton, of North Carolina and West Virginia respectively jumped into an automobile, rode over about twenty miles into Virginia, sat down in the cool shade to play. Chilton possessed the two bladed knife and started the fun. After a tough contest Overman lost and had to kneel down and pull with his teeth a peg from the ground. Chilton had the pleasure of "driving the peg."

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS DAY

Fern-Planting, Speech-Making
With Class Prophecy and Will Be Features

Class Day at the Polytechnic High School was celebrated Friday with the planting of a climbing fern by the senior class. Louise Grubb and Ruth Harding planted the fern, then the spade used in the ceremony was presented to President Charles Barker of the junior class by Miss Grub in an appropriate speech. Under the senior class colors of white and gold tied on the spade used in planting the senior memorial, floated the red and white of the juniors. The future seniors were bidden to continue the custom just inaugurated until the spade should be one mass of souvenirs of the two classes.

The seniors were in gala attire, the boys wearing white blouses and orange ties, while the girls were attractive in middies with similar colored ties. The day was opened with a daisy chain march and the class sang "The Daisy Chain." Paul Anderson gave a rousing speech in the arts building, visited as the class made the rounds of the buildings. In Science Hall, William Houghton voiced the sentiments of the seniors, and in the administration building Raymond Adkinson read the last will and testament of the class, the reading being greeted with laughter and applause. Class prophecies were incanted by three weird witches who stirred a steaming cauldron most vigorously.

The High School Orchestra was a prominent factor in the day's celebration, playing many familiar and stirring selections at the psychological moments. The celebration ended in time for the class to attend the ball game at the athletic field.

Entertained Club

Mrs. A. L. Swarthout entertained the Progressive Embroidery Club at her home on Lyon street Friday afternoon. The room was decorated with Shasta daisies and fern. The afternoon was spent in social chat and needlework and dainty refreshments were served at its close. Miss Laura Brown and Mildred Swarthout assisted in serving. The members of the club present were Mesdames Kendig, E. S. Brown, M. J. Hoffman, A. M. Hoffman, Fred Winslow, H. Cole, Bowers, McCombs, Miss Nellie Grant, and the hostess, Mrs. A. L. Swarthout. Guests of the club were Miss Edith Kendig, Mrs. Albert Fuller, Mrs. Fred Poole, Mrs. Elmer Cubbon, Mrs. P. Carnahan and her mother, Mrs. J. Carnahan, visiting her from Freeport, Illinois; Miss Scott of Petaluma, and Mrs. John Drew, a new arrival from Colton who expects to reside here.

To Summer at Balboa

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Murphy of Los Angeles motored to Balboa yesterday to make arrangements for passing the summer there. They expect to close their West Adams street home very soon, going to the seashore for the season, and this resort is chosen as furnishing special vacation advantages for their little daughter, Bernadine, who will be with them there.

Y. M. C. A. Social Planned

The Y. M. C. A. is planning for a big social stunt at Neil's Hall, 211 East Fourth street, next Tuesday evening, with athletic contests, games and other forms of amusement. The object is to get better acquainted, and to have a good time. The only charge will be a smile at the door, it will stay on after that. All the young men of Santa Ana are cordially invited, but dress suits will not be in order.

The Benjamin Recital

As the Song Recital which Mr. Benjamin will give at the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening next is to be the only recital of the kind he will give this year, it is expected that the event will be of more than ordinary interest. A splendid program has been prepared which will be printed in the Register early next week.

Mr. Benjamin will be assisted in his recital by Mr. Alva W. Ellmore, the talented young violinist artist of Los Angeles and Miss Zoe Glidden, the popular pianist and teacher, of this city.

The music-loving people of this city and their friends are most cordially invited to attend. The usual silver collection will be taken to defray incidental expenses.

PHYSICIAN APPROVES DIAPHANOUS GARB

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Dr. Joseph Tabor Johnson, in a speech before the "Keep Wells" of fashionable St. John's Episcopal church yesterday, told the women members that modern diaphanous draperies were much more conducive to health than the heavy clothing of the past.

He said that airy X-ray waists and angel sleeves allow the air to ventilate the body. Many members of society and official Washington present listened to the lecture while their necks and shoulders gleamed through their gauzy summer dresses.

Amicus Club Meets

The Amicus Club members were pleasantly entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. R. J. Fargher at her South Birch street home. Needlework and conversation interested the ladies through the afternoon hours, which were hospitably completed by the serving of refreshments on the prettily decked dining table. Pink roses were used in decoration.

Those enjoying the event were Mesdames Nellie Young, Dan and Cood Adams, L. Dresser, L. Ball, Ila Bishop, Harvey Spencer, Charles Carey, Miss Henrietta Young and Miss Pauline Lott.

Piano Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Carolyn Keller of Los Angeles will be heard in recital at the Hickox home on French street, next Monday evening. Mrs. Keller will be assisted by Miss Dagmar Nielson, dramatic soprano of Los Angeles.

To Elect New Officer

At the regular meeting of the Daughters of Veterans Monday, June 22, the election of a new treasurer will occur. Members are all urged to attend.

At the Congregational Church

The First Congregational church will hold its Children's Day exercises tomorrow evening at the church. All friends and members of the church are invited to attend.

McFadden, Class President

Edwin McFadden was president of the senior class graduating this week from Pomona College. Yesterday's register gave Edward Bangs that honor, through accident and the error is cheerfully corrected today.

Mr. McFadden was a popular student in Pomona College, being prominent in all of the activities of the institution.

Wedding Anniversary

One of the pleasing events of the week was a wedding anniversary dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. George Wells at their beautiful country home near Yorba Linda, Thursday, June 18, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Abbott. Mrs. Abbott was formerly Miss Letta Wells. This was their first wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Abbott wore their wedding costumes, making a very charming appearance. The bride of a year carried a bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses.

Pansies and ferns adorned the table and place cards bore a lily of the valley design. The house decorations were of nasturtiums. The evening after dinner was pleasantly passed with vocal and instrumental music.

Besides the host and hostess and the honorees, those present were Miss Clara Wells, George Wells, Will Abbott, Mrs. Graham, mother of the groom, Ray Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Barry McPhee, Miss Edith Steel, Miss Virgil Potts, Miss Mabel Hager, Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Stearns. The guests motored home in the moonlight at a late hour, the drive concluding a delightful evening.

Eastern Star Picnic

The Eastern Star picnic will be held at Balboa on Tuesday, June 23. Start will be made from the Masonic Temple on Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Those having no way of transportation to Balboa are requested to communicate with A. C. Tiede.

Luxury Bread has that fine, silky texture, so highly prized by the housewife. Both phones 58.

ECONOMICS FINIS

Ebell Section Holds Season's Last Meeting—Food and Fat Are Burning Topics

The first Household Economics section held its last meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. J. I. Clark yesterday afternoon, the hostesses being Mesdames Clark, Collier, and J. H. Martin. The afternoon's subject was "Diet for Fat People and Lean People and the Care of the Body." Since there are remarkably few women who seem to be neither a trifle too fat nor a trifle too lean (though "plump" and "slender" are the kinder terms they generally apply to themselves) the subject was one of universal interest. Owing to the fact that an overwhelming majority of the class are of the type who could lose a few pounds with unabated cheerfulness, the almost imperceptible minority of too-slender ones felt that perhaps their interests had been somewhat slighted. Mrs. Clark read from a recent woman's magazine an interesting article on "How Not to Be Fat." The interest displayed in the article was purely impersonal—or at most, one hoped her next door neighbor would profit, for where lives the woman who can look her mirror in the eye and confess to "fatness"? One's best friend may, perhaps, be fat—it is very regrettable—but as for one's self—there's perhaps a sort of regal amplitude!

Each lady was asked for her own particular "beauty secret," and it is safe to guess that many a husband's drug store bill will show a perceptible increase this month.

Mrs. J. H. Martin read a very entertaining resume of the Section's work during the past six years, after which the annual election of officers was held. Mrs. J. H. Martin will head the class next year, with Mrs. W. E. Winrow as assistant, and Mrs. C. S. Kendall will be the secretary and treasurer.

To the request for her own individual beauty secret, one poetic lady was inspired to reply—and in turn inspired her hearers—with the following witty rhymes—the lady herself being a living demonstration of the infallibility of her method:

You ask how I got so thin
And more beautiful than I've ever been.
Well, it is just this:

I rise with the lark
Take a turn in the park
And come home all aglow

Then I bake and I brew
And never get in a stew;
Just smile all the time.

Then breakfast to hustle
With no fuss or bustle,
And eat not a bite!

I just pile up the hot bread
And nibble a trisket instead
Of the beautiful biscuit.

When the dishes are all cleared
The house is just as I feared—
All ready to clean.

I sweep and I scrub,
Till there is nothing more to rub,
And then there's the dinner.

At one I serve a meal
That would make the leanest one feel
Like a Jumbo after eating.

I just sit and serve all
With no feeling at all
Of self abnegation!

After dinner I do up
And take many a sup
Of steaming hot water.

Then I trip gracefully the tango,
Kick lightly a fandango,
And breathlessly recline.

On a hard wooden floor,
Where I roll till I'm sore;
Hence the slim hips!

The limbs are well rounded
And seem almost pounded
Into a perfect shape.

This lesson let me hope
Will not cause you to mope
In dire despair!

For many of you need it,
And I trust will see fit
To emulate my sad estate—before taking!

The afternoon was brought to a close by the serving of dainty trays whose contents were warranted to make stout people slender or slender people stout—and they were trustfully partaken of by both varieties.

The club will resume its work in September.

For Departing Teachers
Miss Snow, Miss Phyllis and Miss Young were city school teachers honored at an informal luncheon yesterday noon at Lincoln school. Others at the sumptuous spread were Misses Paul, Wagner, Snure, Stewart, McConahey, Andrews, Havens, Hill.

Dragon Wedding Window

June, the month of roses and of wedding bells, still lingers, and in its wake will be more fair brides and stalwart bridegrooms. And to them the latest achievement in Dragon window artistry is making a heart-thrilling appeal.

That wonderful wedding-cake window! It brings before one's visions of the wedding feast, and the bride in filmy wedding veil and dainty wedding frock as she daintily cuts the wedding cake. A wedding cake just such as one of those that are shown in all their bravery in that lovely window where twining ferns set off the whiteness of the crisp frosting and the gleam of silvery decorations.

"Which of the trio of wedding cakes shall we order?" is the mental query of each blushing bride-to-be as she gazes on those wedding creations flanked by French pastries, meltingly delicious ladyfingers and macaroons, while showing conspicuously in the pastry display are vases and plates in the famous Pickard china, exquisitely hand-painted and "just right" for wedding gifts. The china shown in the Dragon wedding cake window comes from Kryhl's and is admirably apropos to the significance of the handsome display which is the latest Dragon triumph.

Anaconda Buys International Smelting

"The proposition of the directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. to purchase the International Smelting and Refining Co. by the exchange of 3.3 shares of Anaconda for one share of International, was unanimously approved at the stockholders' meeting, held May 20 at Anaconda, Mont.," says the Mining and Engineering World. "There were represented 3,754,208 shares of stock, by proxies, and all voted in favor of the offer. It had not been mentioned in the notices of meeting that the matter was to come up, but there would have been no opposition to the proposal anyway, as it seems to be generally approved by Anaconda stockholders. The International stockholders are yet to meet and accept the offer, which they appear willing to do."

"The deal means the issuance of 330,000 shares of additional stock by the Anaconda Co., making the outstanding stock 4,662,500 shares. The Anaconda Co. will assume a heavy obligation, including $9,000,000 in actual debts of the International and a contract to build a smelter for the treatment of Inspiration and Miami ores at a cost of $2,500,000. The Anaconda is also building an enormous leaching plant at the Washoe smelter, which will cost, approximately, $6,000,000."

"Last year the company failed to earn its dividends by $1,674,000. What it will be able to do with 330,000 additional shares of stock out is one of the questions about which stockholders are somewhat interested. In the face of this copper is selling nearly a cent a pound below the average for last year."

"That International stockholders think well of the exchange offer the Anaconda directors have made is evidenced by the fact that some of them have been selling Anaconda stock against the Anaconda stock which they are to receive in exchange for International. Before the offer was made by Anaconda, the International stockholders were canvassed as to whether they would take more of their own company's stock, and they frankly said they had all they wanted, at present at least. The Anaconda Co.'s assets are difficult to finance the new obligation without seriously impairing the market value of Anaconda shares."

Vastness of London Trade

London is now spending $2,000,000 to enlarge the dock facilities of the port. An army of 25,000 men is at work. John S. Steele, in a letter to the San Francisco Chronicle, gives an idea of the vastness of London's trade and the quantities handled on the wharves and warehouses along the Thames River. Says Mr. Steele:

"The amount of tea passing through the docks in a year, for instance, represents 370,000,000 days' work by its producers. There are twenty-eight and one-quarter miles of subterranean wine cellars, stocked all the time almost to their full capacity with wines of all vintage maturing and waiting for market. Wonderful stories are told about the rare vintages which stand in these underground passages and occasionally one hears of the discovery of a small parcel of some wonderful nectar which had been overlooked for years and has become almost priceless."

"The wool warehouses of the Authority handle every year $100,000,000 worth of wool shorn from the backs of 90,000,000 sheep. The floor space in the wool warehouses has an area of 32 acres. There is also storage space in the warehouses of the Authority for 1,000,000 carcasses of mutton and 120,000 tons of beef at one time."

"Every class of goods is catered to. The tobacco warehouses are heated and ventilated so that the tobacco is kept in the best possible condition. Cold storage is provided for furs, fruit, butter, cheese and eggs, as well as for meat. Mothproof rooms are there for rare Oriental rugs and carpets, and these acres of warehouses are patrolled night and day by armed watchmen to protect the precious wares against thieves."

Copper Output Last Year

The smelter output of copper in the United States in the year 1913 is placed by the United States Geological Survey at 1,224,484,098 pounds, compared with 1,243,268,720 pounds in 1912, a decrease of 1.5 per cent. The total production of new refined copper in 1913 was 1,615,067,782 pounds, the largest output in the history of the industry, exceeding that of 1912 by 46,963,304 pounds. The output of new, or primary, refined copper was as follows:

	1913	1912
Electrolytic	1,400,741,470	1,274,925,271
Lake	155,715,286	231,112,228
Casting	22,606,040	24,777,266
Pig	36,004,986	37,271,613

Total 1,615,067,782
These refineries also produced in 1913 37,222,759 pounds of secondary copper. In addition to the material treated by the regular refining companies, plants that treated secondary material exclusively produced a total of 235,000,000 pounds of copper (including copper in brass and other alloys), making a total production of 273,000,000 pounds from secondary sources.

Sugar Beets in Russia

The conditions attending the production of sugar beets in Russia in 1913 were a great improvement over those of 1912, and preliminary figures show the yield in southwestern Russia to have been 6,657,327 short tons, as compared with 6,040,771 tons in the preceding year. The trade in 1913, however, was not satisfactory and dealers fear that the Russian beet sugar now used in foreign countries may be replaced in part by cane sugar from Cuba or that they will be able to retain their trade only through a reduction in prices, writes the United States Consul at Odessa. Domestic trade is increasing with the growth in average annual sugar consumption among the people.

Honolulu Oil Stocks Dividend

After paying five dividends at the rate of one cent per month, the directors of the Honolulu Oil Company have decided to suspend further dividends. In a circular letter to stockholders, the directors say: "The directors of this company have decided to temporarily discontinue the payment of dividends, due to the fact that the purchasing company insists on depositing in escrow with the bank all moneys for oil produced and sold from unpatented land, pending the settlement of title application by the Government Land Department."

Northern Electric Defaults

Security holders in the Northern Electric Railway of California and allied companies have been notified by trustees that the interest was defaulted and would not be paid for some time.

Aiding Mining Industry

To aid the world's oldest industry, mining, Federal co-operation has been asked. To the end that legitimate mining schemes may receive the support of capital, J. H. Thain, a practical mining man, has advanced a plan for Government co-operation to meet the present chief difficulty which the prospector encounters in seeking capital to develop his proposition. His plan includes the establishment of a Government laboratory at Washington and another at San Francisco, where prospectors may send ore samples and have them analyzed free of charge. In doing this the Government would make no guarantee nor assume any obligation. The Government chemist would write to the prospector: "We have analyzed the samples you have sent to us and find they contain," etc.

"The next step for the prospector would be to have a Government inspector visit the property at the prospector's expense, and verify the exact length, average width and average value of the outcrop, and the situation of vein or deposit from which the samples were taken. If the prospector had tampered with his original samples to the Government, the second assays would fail to check, thus defeating the purposes of a dishonest promoter. In this second step the Government would assume no responsibility. It would merely verify the existence of a certain outcrop or deposit and the metal contents as indicated by two assays. With two Government certificates verifying the existence of commercial ores and showing their assays, the prospector would have two powerful arguments to present to the mining investor and induce him to enter upon an independent examination of the property. Thus the greatest obstacles in the interesting of capital in a mining enterprise would have been overcome. It is difficult to imagine how a mine of any real merit would fail to find a backer under such conditions."

"The prospector should be limited to staking his claim as per Government regulations, and to not more than two claims in his own name for any one district. The claims should be free from location work until the Government report on ore contents is received. Samples should be obtained by cutting trenches a few inches wide across the vein or pay streak, not more than five feet apart; the broken material should be carefully sampled and quartered down, and an average of all these samplings sent to the nearest Government laboratory. The discoverer would be allowed an allotted time to do his location work after the mailing of the Government report. Under existing conditions the average prospector has only a small amount of money and is not able to hire an experienced and reliable chemist. As a result he is unable to furnish data which the investor considers sufficiently reliable to warrant further investigation."

Banking in South America

The report of the British Bank of South America for the year 1913 states that the gross profits, after allowing for rebate of interest on deposits and making full provision for bad and doubtful debts and contingencies, amount to $2,008,886 United States currency. This, with $407,740 brought forward, makes $2,416,626. After deducting $953,651 for all charges of the head office and branches and $111,521 for income tax and Government taxes in Brazil and the River Plate, there remains $1,351,454 available. The directors have transferred $50,000 to pension and benevolent fund—which, with interest at 5 per cent, now amounts to $445,303—$21,900 in reduction of cost of investments, and they have set apart $41,300 for payment of a bonus to the staff. The institution paid a dividend of 17 per cent free of income tax.

June Disbursements

Longest Telephone Circuit

Direct telephonic communication between Berlin and Rome was established during the month of April, and forms the longest stretch of direct communication of this kind at present in existence, says a foreign telegram. The total length of this line is 2015 km., more than the twentieth part of the circumference of the world. The great difficulty lies in securing a clear transmission through the Alps. This difficulty was overcome by employing a hard copper wire with a thickness of 4 1/2 mm., and by fitting the plant with special coils, which are attached to the poles at intervals of 10 km., thus decreasing the resistance.

Increase Corporation Capital

Certificates of increase in the capital stock of California corporations have been filed with the proper authorities, as follows:

California Co-Operative Realty Association, Los Angeles, Cal.; from $100,000 to $1,000,000.

Moreland Motor Truck Co., Los Angeles, Cal.; from $100,000 to $300,000.

Anaconda Copper Output

Copper produced by the Anaconda Copper Company during the month of May, aggregated 23,500,000 pounds, compared with 23,000,000 pounds in April.

WHY "FORCE" WAS SELECTED

For American Athletes at the Olympic Games

"FORCE"—the all wheat food, cooked with barley malt—was selected for the American athletes at the Olympic games because it is a "perfectly balanced" food, containing all of the elements necessary to build and sustain muscle and strength.

"FORCE" is easily digested and aids in avoiding dangers arising from change in diets. "Force" is whole wheat, scientifically prepared. Wheat foods are the staple diet of athletes when training—and afterward.

A diet of wheat means leadership. The progress of the nation proves that wheat eaters conquer the world. "FORCE" is the highest possible attainment in wheat food; cooked with malt, baked, and toasted. It is the most delicious of cereals.

"Force" was the first ready-to-serve cereal to select wheat as its base—recognizing that wheat is king of all cereal grains. Flaked foods from corn, rye or rice do not begin to compare with "FORCE" in food value.

Placentia Courier: The first 25,000-gallon tank of the new reservoir system of the Placentia Domestic Water Company has been completed and connected up with the water mains and the second tank, with a similar capacity, will be ready for connection within a week.

Placentia will then have one of the best fire protection systems in the state as far as excellence and adequacy of the water system is concerned.

The big tanks will be a splendid advertisement for Placentia, as a progressive, growing city with a first-class water system. The company is spending about $4,000 in bringing the water plant to a high state of efficiency.

The water mains have been given a good test since the big tank was hatched up and with the exception of a few minor places where the pipe was not properly covered with protecting material from alkaline action, when laid, was found in first-class condition.

STATE BEAN CROP RECORD BREAKER; PRODUCT FOR U. S.

Establishing a new record for bean production, California will this year produce 2,180,000 sacks of nutritious limas and black eyes for use throughout the United States, according to freight traffic officials, says the Los Angeles Tribune.

The reputation of the California bean is so excellent that Uncle Sam is keeping his eye on the local output with a view of buying part of it for the soldiers and sailors. Southern California will produce about 600,000 sacks of beans. There are usually ninety pounds in a sack.

The price of beans is higher than usual and likely to rise, as there is a brisk demand.

One property, the Irvine ranch near Santa Ana, has 21,000 acres planted in beans this year, making it the largest bean ranch in the world. Most of the ground is in limas.

WESTERN TOURIST TRAVEL INCREASES

CHICAGO, June 20.—Tourist travel in all railroads operating westward from Chicago is reported as well above earlier expectations and somewhat better than a year ago, in many instances. Special rates have been in effect since June 1 to all Pacific coast points, Colorado, Salt Lake and Yellowstone Park regions. That these rates have stimulated travel to a great extent is the report made by each of the large railroads, although Los Angeles and Southern California are steady magnets for tourists.

The passenger department of the Chicago and Northwestern reported today that the travel as checked up to date showed a fair increase over that of a year ago, and inquiries regarding special excursions were well above those of a year ago. The tour department reported today that 144 reservations had been booked for the first Yellowstone Park excursion, which will leave July 4. The first excursion a year ago carried 157 persons, and there are still two weeks in which to reach that figure. These special excursions will leave Chicago each Saturday after July 4 until September 1.
